CEMETERY QUESTION WARMLY DEBATED LAST EVENING

Manager Basford Announces That Forest Lawn Will Withdraw Petition

HARRY LEVEY PRESIDES

Unanimous Decision by Those Present to Join Improvement Association

About 75 citizens interested in the question of whether the Forest Lawn Memorial Park Association is to be permitted to extend its burial grounds into Glendale, were gathered at the municipal building at the corner of Brand and Los Feliz road, Tuesday evening, to discuss the matter.

Harry Levey was asked to call the meeting to order and preside, and later he was made its permanent chairman. Mrs. E. V. Bacon acting as recording secretary.

Before the cemetery question was opened Mr. Levey told of the Glendale Avenue Improvement Association recently organized and its purposes, and invited those present to become members, which they decided to do by unanimous vote.

Mr. Levey then briefly reviewed the situation with regard to cemeteries, stating it was his understanding that the city had in effect an ordinance passed some years ago excluding cemeteries; that the present movement is to secure the repeal of that ordinance and the passage of another under which Forest Lawn will be permitted to use for cemetery purposes 16 acres north and east of its present holdings which it has recently purchased from the Richardson estate.

Mr. Levey also said he had been informed that because of some legal opinion it had received, the city trustees believed that they had no constitutional right to exclude cemeteries. For his own satisfaction and information Mr. Levey stated he had visited and conferred with City Attorney Stephens of Los Angeles in regard to the question, and there looked up the so-called "Hollywood City case," which he believed was at the bottom of the opinion entertained by the Glendale trustees. But that case was based on an ordinance passed by the county board of supervisors prohibiting cemeteries in the county, which, under the constitution was held to be unreasonable restriction. Said he: "Where the city gets its power to regulate on this question is from the constitution of the state of California and that constitution in Article 11, section 11, gives cities power to regulate and control in this respect. In the case of the 'Oddfellows' City Association against the city of San Francisco it was held by the supreme court that it was well settled that cemeteries in cities are subject to regulation or suppression and are not confined to present conditions alone, but may look to the future and make such regulations as may be

POSTPONE SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

To the great regret of the majority of Glendale residents, the school bond election set for May 24, has had to be postponed. The reason for the school board's rescinding the call for the election set for May 24 arises from the fact that there is a question whether the residents of the Grand View district are entitled to vote on this occasion, and the validity of the election depends upon the correct answer to this question.

As stated in a set of resolutions drawn up by the school board at a meeting held last evening (which resolutions will be found elsewhere in the columns of this issue), the supreme court of the state of California declined to pass upon a case identical with the above question. This action casts a grave doubt upon the validity of any bonds voted upon or issued at this time.

The Grand View district will become an integral part of the Glendale city school district as soon as the recently adopted charter of the city of Glendale goes into effect. There will then be not the least doubt of the right of the Grand View residents to vote. For this reason the board, at last evening's meeting, rescinded the call for the election for May 24 and postponed such election to a date to be announced later.

Agreement Not Reached

TOKYO, May 18.—Although official confirmation is refused, the press states today that it is reliably informed that the general colonial conference meeting in secret at its second day's session adopted the general lines along which Japan is willing to return Shantung to China.

Evacuation of Siberia is also understood to have been partially agreed upon, although certain concessions will be demanded in connection with the withdrawal, it is stated. The foreign and war offices are said to be in disagreement upon this question and the matter will not be finally settled until they reach an agreement.

MISS ALTA LOVELL WEDS H. A. HARRISON

Quiet Home Affair Limited to Contracting Parties and Their Families

A very quiet but pretty home wedding was celebrated this morning at 11 o'clock, when Miss Alta Lovell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen I. Lovell of 415 North Central avenue, became the bride of Howard A. Harrison, son of A. J. Harrison of this city. Very pretty she looked in her wedding gown of white silk and wedding veil with its crown of orange blossoms, carrying a wedding bouquet of bride roses. It was all beautifully simple, there being no attendants and the witnesses being limited to the families of the contracting parties. The knot was tied by Rev. E. E. Ford.

Following the ceremony the young people left by automobile for the Sequoia National park, where they will spend their honeymoon. On their return they will be at home to their friends at 221 West Lomita avenue, in a home which the groom has built and furnished for his bride. He is employed as a bookkeeper in the general offices at the city hall. Mrs. Harrison has been for some years an employee of the Glendale Savings bank. She is a member of the Glendale Baptist church and very popular with its young people.

IMPORTANT SALE OF BUSINESS LOT

Local Capitalists Buy Northeast Corner of Broadway and Maryland

A real estate transaction of which rumors have been circulating for several weeks, was finally consummated yesterday, whereby a group of local capitalists, including the firm of Doner, Hemenway and Burn, became the owners of the property at the northeast corner of Broadway and Maryland, for a handsome consideration. It is now occupied by the Grose service station but will soon be improved by a handsome brick building of two or more stories which will have stores below and apartments above. The purchase was made from Mr. Allison of Verdugo Woodlands.

MAKE RESERVATIONS FOR FORUM DINNER

Secretary Rhoades of the Chamber of Commerce is reminding members of that organization that tickets for the forum dinner to be held Thursday night in the high school cafeteria are on sale at chamber headquarters, where reservations can be made. To avoid loss, it is necessary to know in advance the number of guests who will be present, and every person intending to take advantage of this pleasant social gathering of chamber members and to enjoy the fine program provided in the way of after-dinner addresses, is asked to communicate with Mr. Rhoades, either by calling at the chamber offices on West Broadway or by telephoning Glendale 1262.

DAVID JOHNSON IS CRITICALLY ILL

David Johnson, a favorite student in Glendale high, who lives on Rock Glen avenue, is not expected to live. A few weeks ago he fell from an auto on which he was riding and was run over, the wheels passing over his limbs. He apparently recovered from that injury, but developed intestinal trouble. A week ago Sunday he got up, but had a relapse and is in a serious condition.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE IS NOT EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Has Been in Ill Health for Several Months and Is Quite Aged

MRS. WHITE AT BEDSIDE

Appointed to Bench by President Cleveland in 1894;
Promoted in 1910

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court is near death today. The chief justice is "very ill" it was stated at the Garfield hospital at 7 o'clock this morning. Physicians attending the jurist had not expected him to live through the night.

Late yesterday afternoon the aged judge suffered a chill after which his condition declined. Late last night he lapsed into unconsciousness and was still unconscious this morning.

Dr. H. G. Fuller, one of the attending physicians, stated early this morning that there was little hope that the judge would live through the day.

The chief justice underwent an operation for bladder trouble last Friday and had improved steadily until yesterday afternoon. After his sinking spell Mrs. White and Justice McKenna of the supreme court, were summoned to the bedside and Mrs. White remained at the hospital during the night.

Although 75 years of age, the jurist has shown a remarkable stamina, for he has been in ill health for the last four months and had delayed the operation because of the pressure of the business of the supreme court.

Several weeks ago a severe cold kept the justice from the court for two weeks, but he returned and took up his duties.

The chief justice was born in the parish of La Fourche, Louisiana, November 3, 1845.

He served in the confederate army during the civil war. Before going on the bench of the supreme court, Mr. White served in the United States senate. He was appointed to the bench by President Cleveland in 1894 and was elevated to the chief justiceship in 1910 by President Taft.

CITY TRUSTEE HENRY SEEKS RE-ELECTION

In another column, announcement will be found of the candidacy of C. H. Henry, who for the past three years has been serving Glendale as city trustee, to succeed himself as a member of the city council under the new charter.

Mr. Henry has been a figure of interest at many of the sessions of the board wherein important matters have been up for consideration and has always been ready to express himself on any issue that arose. Before the union of Tropic with Glendale, he was a member of the board of trustees of that municipality.

He has been a resident of Glendale for 14 years, is well-known in the fraternity of real estate operators, and declares an intention to live here 14 years more.

The dinner took place at 6:30 and was followed by a reception at 8 o'clock. It was the first time in the history of York Rite Masonry in this jurisdiction that a grand high priest had been received by a body of Knights Templar. About 1000 Royal Arch Masons and Knights Templar were present.

Mr. Jones was received with all the honors of knighthood, passing through a line of knights in full dress standing at attention. Among the notable knights by whom Mr. Jones was thus received were: Perry W. Widener, past grand commander of the state of California and grand standard bearer of the grand encampment of Knights Templar, United States of America, a 33d degree mason and a

MRS. OLIVE GOULD LEAVES FOR HOME

Mrs. Olive Gould, mother of Ira E. Gould, of 106 East Lomita avenue, left last evening for her home in Iowa after an extended visit with relatives here. Mrs. Gould recently celebrated her 94th birthday at her son's home, entertaining a group of friends with an afternoon party. She is well and in the possession of all her faculties and enjoyed the beauties of California so much that she is planning another visit here next year.

FRIDAY, 13TH, WAS THEIR LUCKY DAY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKinley, 915 South Brand boulevard, are recent acquisitions to Glendale from Brooklyn, N. Y., but little Katherine McKinley is a native daughter of the golden west.

Katherine's father and mother say Friday, the 13th, was a lucky day, for it's the day that brought little Katherine to them. Katherine is not so "little" at that—for she weighed six and three-quarters pounds when she arrived.

Dry Forces Reduced

(By International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Enforcement of the prohibition laws will be hardly more than theoretical, unless local police forces take on that duty between now and July 1, it was learned today. Assistant Prohibition Commissioner Bliss announced today that because of lack of appropriations it has been necessary to place more than 700 members of the enforcement organization on furlough until July 1. This leaves a force of but 500, most of which is engaged in administrative and clerical work.

FORMER SECRETARY OF INTERIOR LANE PASSES AWAY

Was Under Medical Care for Past Two Years—Had Apparently Recovered

(By International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 18.—Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior in Wilson's cabinet, died here early today from an attack of heart failure. The former secretary had been under medical care for two years for the ailment, but had apparently recovered. His death was unexpected.

Mr. Lane had gone to Minneapolis early this month to attend the wedding of a son. He then visited the Mayo Brothers' sanitarium for treatment for his heart ailment. Early this week, he announced his intention of returning to his business, as he "felt fit."

The ex-secretary suffered a relapse yesterday and grew worse during the night. He died at 6:30 o'clock this morning. Members of his family were at the bedside. Arrangements are being made for the funeral, which will be held in New York.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The death of Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, has taken away an "outstanding American," President Harding said today in a message of condolence to Mrs. Lane, at Rochester, Minn.

The President telegraphed Mrs. Lane as follows:
"Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Damon Hotel, Rochester, Minn.

"I have just learned of the death of your distinguished husband and am wiring to express my very great shock and my exceedingly deep sorrow over his untimely passing. He was an outstanding American who rendered most distinguished service to his country and found an abiding place in the affections of all who knew him well. Mrs. Harding joins me in an expression of most sympathetic condolence.

Former President and Mrs. Wilson this afternoon sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Lane. It was not made public.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—Flags on public buildings in San Francisco were ordered half-mast today by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., out of respect to the memory of Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior and former city attorney for San Francisco.

Expressions of regret for his untimely death and high praise for his public service, came from the mayor and many other public officials. He served as city attorney from 1897 to 1902 and during that period handled many important legal matters for the city.

NO MEDDLING WITH BURBANK

At the meeting of the directorate of the chamber of commerce yesterday, the ordinance which the trustees of Burbank propose to pass levying a license tax on laundry wagons, transportation companies and other lines of business outside of Glendale which seek patronage in Burbank, was brought up for consideration. Members seemed to be in practical agreement that it was a matter for Burbank to decide not the outside public, and that inasmuch as Glendale had seen fit to pass similar legislation it was not a proper subject for criticism on her part.

HOME DECORATED IN PATRIOTIC COLORS

Decorations in the patriotic colors formed the appropriate setting chosen by Mrs. Daphne Lyons when she entertained the Nimble Fingers Club, Daughters of Veterans, at her home, 122 West Palmer avenue, last evening.

Twenty members, a record attendance, honored the hostess by their presence, and the evening was spent delightfully and profitably in music, chit-chat and the sewing quilt patches. There was a substantial silver offering.

Low vases of Cecil Brunner roses centered the two tables, where a delightful salad course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Mae Burlingham and Miss Arnie Miller.

Enthusiastic support was pledged the public entertainment to be given by the Daughters of Veterans on the evening of Tuesday, May 24, at Odd Fellows Hall, when dancing, cards and a box social will be the diversion of the evening.

Crime Wave Increases With Appalling Speed

Last Year Had Worst Record in 23 Years—Forgery Becoming Greatest Crime in Point of Number—System of Allotments and War Risk Insurance Also Prolific Source

BY HARRY L. ROGERS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 18. — There was more crime in the United States during the last year than in any year since 1897, according to William H. Moran, chief of the United States Bureau of Secret Service. Though this increased activity of criminals extended to practically every phase of illegal endeavor, bank robbers, counterfeiters and forgers were particularly active.

Unsettled conditions following the war, and prohibition, Chief Moran, believes, are in the main responsible for the great increase in crime. "It has been stated by prominent observers that the returned soldiers are responsible for the crime increase," said the veteran secret service man. "Personally I do not like that manner of stating the situation. While it is undoubtedly true that discharged soldiers have in many instances been implicated in crime during the past year, it is incorrect to infer that there was something in the military experience of our soldiers abroad that made them criminal."

City Life Proved Bad Element

"The fact is that the mobilization of our army brought thousands of boys from the country districts to the cities and gave them for the first time in their lives a glimpse of the attractions of metropolitan life. In many instances these youngsters were so fascinated with the bright lights, the hurry and bustle and the glamor of higher wages that they refused to return to their homes in the rural districts, or if they did return soon became dissatisfied and again sought cities, often with little or no capital to tide them over till they secured a job."

"In this way thousands of inexperienced young men were congregated in a strange environment at a time when the first pressure of unemployment was beginning to be felt. That some of the weaker among them should have yielded to temptation was perhaps inevitable."

Readjustment in the so-called war industries, Chief Moran believes, is another factor which has given impetus to the so-called crime wave. Since 1914 men working in munitions plants, shipbuilding plants and other industries which sprang up as a result of the war, had made wages which in some instances were six to eight times as great as they had ever been paid before. Many of these workers were scarcely more than semi-skilled laborers, and were often totally lacking in the saving instinct.

Reckless Spending Wave
As rapidly as they received their earnings they spent them, often carelessly and extravagantly, and when the armistice came and factories began to close men who had been making from $50 to $150 a week found themselves without jobs. The greater part of them had saved practically nothing and many had cultivated extravagant tastes and methods of living which made them unwilling to return to the jobs and wages with which they had been satisfied before the war. Such conditions naturally were prolific of crime.

"It has been said," Moran continued, "that prohibition may have had some effect upon crime. Indirectly, at least, it has. I believe that the closing of saloons throughout the United States has made it necessary for thousands of former habitués of those places to find other haunts and other activities, and many of them whose violations of the law under old conditions seldom went beyond the misdemeanor stage, have now actually become criminal."

Forgery Grows Apace

"I do not mean particularly employees of the liquor business, but rather the semi-vagrant class of hangers-on who were always to be found around the saloons. In the old days the ambition of these men did not extend very far beyond getting a few drinks of liquor and a bite to eat now and then. Now, with their minds clearer through abstinence and with their energies undissipated, they have become a much more serious problem to the police."

The system of allotments and war risk insurance instituted during the war has been another prolific source of crime, coming under the jurisdiction of the secret service bureau, according to Moran. Government checks were sent broadcast in payment of allotments and insurance and it was inevitable that many of them should find their way into the wrong hands. This led to wholesale forgery of signatures and to considerable alterations or check raising.

Under the law the bureau of which Mr. Moran is head is charged with the duty of protecting the person and immediate family of the president, and with guarding the "obligations or security of the United States." The first of these duties needs no explanation. The second, in actual practice, resolves itself into the task of detecting and apprehending forgers and counterfeiters.

During the last fiscal year the bureau made 779 arrests, as compared with 510 in the previous year, and a general average of less than 400 for the 20 years previous. Counterfeit or altered notes captured by the bureau operatives amounted to $90,930, as compared with $22,839 in the year preceding.

FIGHT TO RETAIN C. & O. CANAL

Conceived by Washington and May Be Discarded for Newer Modes

International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—Whether the Chesapeake and Ohio Barge Canal, one of the oldest transportation routes in the United States, is to sink into disuse or take a new lease of commercial life depends upon the result of a campaign about to be launched by its operators, with the support of representative commercial interests in Maryland and the District of Columbia and the Maryland delegation in Congress.

Conceived in the fertile brain of George Washington, the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal project had the active support of a number of American pioneers whose names are now famous in history, and the route was first surveyed by General Washington himself in 1784. Since its completion it has been in virtually constant operation though the enterprise has never been particularly successful from a financial point of view, and since the coming of the rail competition has many times been threatened with extinction.

At several periods during its history, notably during the world war, the canal route has proved a boon to shippers and to the nation as a whole, by furnishing an outlet for traffic when the steam routes were hopelessly congested. Tapping what is known as "The Neck of the Bottle," the canal route was not only of immense value as an auxiliary to the heavily-burdened steam routes to the eastern seaboard, but also proved a veritable "life-saver" in the transportation of coal owing to the fact that for its short interstate hauls (tumble cars) could be used which were unfit for interstate traffic.

Railroads Actively Interested

The railroad administration, appreciating the strategic importance of the barge route, detailed its most expert engineers to work out plans for its improvement and development. Tentative plans included the substitution of tractors for mules as motive power, and the diversion from the steam roads of freight more adaptable to the nature of the commodity or its destination. These plans are now being revived and pushed by the interests which have undertaken to prevent the old trade route from being abandoned.

The immediate crisis which confronts the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal is the danger of losing a contract with the navy department under which the little barge mules of the Chesapeake and Ohio have for 20 years transported more than 100,000 tons of coal annually from the Cumberland, Md., fields to the navy proving grounds at Indian Head, Md. In the past this enormous haul of coal has constituted about two-thirds of the annual coal movement in the canal, a fact which indicates the importance of this contract as an aid to the present ambitious plans for commercial development, if not its actual continuance in operation.

Until now there has been no vigorous attempt on the part of the railroads to compete with the canal for this contract. This year, however, the Pennsylvania railroad has submitted a bid which is a few cents lower than the rate for which the canal operators estimate they can transport the coal. Navy department experts figure they will save from $15,000 to $17,000 annually by use of the steam route.

Denby to Give Early Decision

Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman of Maryland, headed a delegation which recently presented powerful historic and sentimental arguments as well as the military and commercial reasons why the waterway should not be abandoned. They came away from the interview with Secretary of the Navy Denby feeling that the navy department may yet see its way clear to modify its plans and continue utilizing the canal route. Secretary Denby, they said, promised an early decision and admitted the sentimental as well as the military value of the route. The early history of the canal is that of the Potomac company, formed shortly after the revolutionary war.

"The Potomac company had its inception in the fertile brain of George Washington," says the official history of the company. "The father of his country had the vision of a prophet. In the development of the country and the building of commerce he was fully 20 years in advance of his fellow citizens."

Washington Was Shareholder

"The general left his home at Mount Vernon, September 1, 1784, on horseback, following the course of the river and its tributaries, making a personal examination of the depth and the rapids as well as the settlements, who the inhabitants were and their ability to clear the forests and till the soil. The general returned from that preliminary survey October 4, being absent 34 days. He travelled 640 miles, an average of 28 miles a day.

"Upon his return he immediately began the organization of a company to develop the waterway. The legislatures of Maryland and Virginia granted charters during May, 1785, to the Potomac company, and George Washington was elected its first president. He was also a large shareholder."

SPOKANE, Wash., May 18.—Spokane police are expectantly waiting the arrival of an automobile thief by way of the emergency hospital route. Recently an automobile thief drove away in a car belonging to E. A. Seiler, of Kiesel, Wash. In the back seat of the car was a hive of bees. And the machine is a Ford.

Palace Grand

"Billions," Nazimova's latest contribution to the screen, showing at the Palace Grand theater today only, makes use of numerous unusual and fanciful sets, all of which have been designed under the personal supervision of Nazimova. Incidentally, it is a tale that will baffle the fan who likes to anticipate the unfolding of the plot by predicting developments in advance of their appearance. For "Billions" is a picture of surprises.

One of the effective touches of the production comes at the very opening of the picture, where the scene is laid in a street of old Russia, which shows several hundred mounted Cossacks riding amid a mob in front of the Czar's palace and near the Greek cathedral.

Another set, and one that will delight the eye of every woman, shows the deft feminine touch of Nazimova in the treatment of the interior of a New York apartment. The idea of luxury and unlimited wealth is conveyed rather by artistic arrangement of its few tapestries and broad spaces than by the lavish expenditure of money that is usually found in such a picture.

Glendale Theater

Only the most carping critic could fail to approve of the latest Selznick Pictures production, starring Eugene O'Brien, entitled "Worlds Apart," which opened for a two days' run at the Glendale theater last night.

In this picture the audience is shown life in many spheres of human existence. From the exclusiveness of the "smart set," whose troubles are largely imaginary ones, to the daredevil outlaws of the underworld, the adventures of Hugh Ledyard, the hero in the play, extend, packed full of thrilling action.

In contrast to the bleak, dismal scenes of the slums and Chinatown, are the bright lights and beautiful homes of the wealthy. The county hunt, particularly is a treat of wonderful scenery, where well-groomed men and women follow the hounds. This is one of the finest bits the reviewer has ever seen. Miss Tell wears some gorgeous gowns which have the seal of Paris suggested in their daring lines.

Bobby Lehman, the young vaudeville actor who has become a headliner, won the hearts of last night's audience; he will appear again this evening at the first show.

"Bubbling Over," a Rolin comedy, and a Pathe Review, are other feature attractions.

Good Citizenship.

Rev. Father O'Neill in his sermon last Sunday, the feast of Pentecost, dwelt on the fruits of the gifts of the Holy Ghost—wisdom, understanding, counsel, fortitude, piety, knowledge and fear of the Lord—in their relation to good citizenship.

A consistent Christian, he asserted, must, logically, be a good citizen. He dwelt especially on the Christian's respect for all properly constituted authority. A Christian does not evade the law, either in civil or spiritual matters; if a man show contempt for civil authority, he pays the penalty; in like manner, the penalty for contempt of spiritual authority must be paid, sooner or later.

Bismarck, the great German statesman, underrated the spiritual things of life as compared with the material, as is natural to such a man as he. In his contemptuous treatment of the church he did not appear to advantage. He carried this contempt even to the point of persecution, thinking to control by material penalties the consciences of men.

When he finally realized the futility of this stupid attitude, he was not big enough to admit it. "I will not go to Canossa," he said. But with all his power, he did "go to Canossa." Finding that it was foolish for a man to persist in the impossible, he was forced to become conciliatory.

The term "to go to Canossa" originated from the dramatic incident that occurred to Henry IV. of Germany in the year 1076, when the German princes would have utterly abandoned the monarch unless within a year he asked pardon for contemptuous treatment of the church. In January of the following year he made peace with the pope, standing before the gate of Canossa, a castle of Tuscany, in the foothills of the Apennines. Had he not done so he would have been abandoned by the princes of his country, just as a man who shows contempt for his country's laws is denied the friendship and support of his fellows until he repents.

BEAUTY ITS LURE

Under Wonderful Charm Zanzibar Conceals Deadly Rage.

Great Metropolis of East Coast of Africa Attracts Wanderers From All Civilized Countries.

Aden, from which I had but recently departed, is a man grown gaunt and rugged in honest strife; but Zanzibar is a courtizan, whimsical, gay, sullen, presenting many aspects, writes William Ashley Anderson in Harper's Magazine.

Warm, rich, beautiful, concealing with dissembling art its sinister spots, it lavishes its charms, intoxicates with its beauty, smoothes with its opulence; or suddenly, after a smoldering silence, it rends itself with rage. The screaming tornado rips its garments of verdure to tatters, bony-fingered pestilence goes leering down its dark alley ways, fever shakes the life out of its victims. And afterward, the bright sun sparkles upon the rain-washed foliage, and the island smiles again with the innocent radiance of a maiden.

Zanzibar town is the metropolis of the east coast. It is Rome to the dusky pilgrim; it is Paris to the reckless wanderers from the Bantu folk of Cape Delado to the sons of the corsairs of Oman. Its clubs; its coffee shops; its cinemas; its dark, arched rooms where dusky belles from India, Arabia, the Somali coast, and Zanzibar giggle and shrill and dance monotonous dances; its spreading mango trees under whose shelter the torches burn, and the tom-toms beat the measure of night-long ngorani; its shops tumbling with riches of roughly carved ivory and ebony, or hammered Cinghese silver and gems; its bazaars, gaudy with cheap cloth—kikoy, hodrinks, kanzas—bright with prints of flags and ships and emblems of royalty; the great ships lying in its roads, pouring into the lap of black Africa the increasing luxuries of Europe; the dhows bearing commerce from the Persian gulf, the Seychelles, and Madagascar—all, all and more, contribute to the renown and lure of Zanzibar.

My huge old Arab house had the reputation of being haunted. Unfortunately, I cannot prove this; but every night at two in the morning I awakened and lay for many minutes listening to the few faint sounds that tapped musically upon the bell of silence—the everlasting whispers and laughter of the waves upon the beach, the tap-tap-tap of death's head beetles in the berities of the ceiling, the rustling movement of rats, the clear silver tinkle of ships' bells in the harbor, the unexpected rattle of a chain, far off the plaintive shriek of a lemur, the stirring of palm fronds outside my window.

Turning my head, I could look out through the porticoes across the water, silvery under the moon, with red and white and green lights glowing from the gray shadows of ships. A pale brooding moon sometimes gazed at me from behind a fan of palms; and then ghosts would truly steal about me, tender, ministering ghosts—memories of other days and dim dreams that may yet come true. In their arms I'd sink again to sleep.

Youthful Soldier of Fortune.

A real soldier of fortune who became a commissioned officer in the Polish army at the age of sixteen, after having returned only five months ago to the United States and "civies," could no longer resist the call of the klaki and the bugle, and in consequence enlisted as a "buck private" at the United States army recruiting headquarters. This youthful hero of campaigns against the Germans and Bolsheviks is Josef Zalot, nineteen years old. In 1917 he joined the Polish volunteers, after being educated in Philadelphia his native city, and was commissioned a second lieutenant at Camp Niagara, Ontario, Canada. After considerable fighting at Rheims and the Champagne country, followed by the armistice, he studied at a French school of arms. He accompanied General Haller's army in the spring of 1919 to the Polish front to fight against the Russians, and at the end of that campaign returned home. He is now a buck private in the Eighteenth Infantry at Camp Dix, New Jersey, studying for examination as a second lieutenant.

Repairing a Buckled Ship.

In the great explosion at Halifax the British ship Curaca had her back broken. When the vessel was refloated it was found that she was buckled to the extent of nine feet two inches at the bow and six feet six inches at the stern. In that condition, says the Scientific American, she was temporarily repaired and brought to New York, where she was put in dry dock, and the water was pumped out until she touched the keel blocks amidships. Next, the plating on both sides of the ship was cut at the point where the vessel had buckled, and more water was pumped out, until both ends settled gently down upon the keel blocks and the vessel was once more straight. The task of joining the two parts was comparatively simple.

Season's Best Joke.

"A stranger dropped in and solemnly announced that he wanted to rent a house."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

RUBBING THE LAMP

OF ALL the stories that out of a far-distant past have come down to entertain and teach us none is more compelling in its interest than that of Aladdin and his wonderful lamp.

There are several versions of the fact, but one feature remains the same in all the variations—in order to get the benefits which the lamp had power to confer the possessor had to rub it.

In other words, it took WORK to get the desired results and to enjoy the benefits.

The greatest disgrace in this life is to be idle. To produce nothing, to feed upon the mental or physical labors of others, reduces man to a rank lower than the animals, for they strive at least for their food.

"He is not only idle who does nothing," says Seneca, "but he is idle who might be better employed."

The thing to do is to find that task for which you are best fitted, which you can do with the greatest efficiency and the greatest pleasure, and do that task with all your might.

Count your efforts by results. The punch that does not land never overcomes your opponent.

The bullet that spends its energy in the air never helped to win a battle. Production, RESULTS, is what truly measures endeavor and fixes its value. Idleness is emptiness. Emptiness as to the present, emptiness as to the future.

One of the most indefatigable workers in America, a man whose accomplishments are known the world over and whose name is a synonym for accomplishment in his profession said in a lecture to a group of young men recently: "The man who works only with the purpose of self-preservation; whose only object in life is to satisfy his hunger, cover his nakedness and provide himself a shelter, may be good but he won't be good for much."

A man WITH A BRAIN ought to have something that the machine cannot have. He ought to have aspiration and ambition and a vision of a better future.

If he has not how is he better than the combination of belts and gears beside which he works?

I could never quite see why Adam was very severely punished when as a result of his infraction of the rules of Eden he was told, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." I cannot believe that the Creator looked upon work as a curse, a punishment.

Work has brought more joy into the world, cured more sorrows, mended more broken hearts and built more happiness than any other function of mankind.

Carlyle paid a splendid tribute to work when he wrote, "There is a nobleness and even a sacredness in work. There is always hope in a man who actually and earnestly works. The latest gospel in the world is, know thy work and do it."

Work will make us love life. It is the one means of satisfying ambition.

It is the one way to turn dreams into realities.

It is the ONLY way by which a man can prove his right to existence and establish the wisdom of the Creator in having made him.

The best part of the story of Aladdin and his lamp was that he had to rub the lamp to get results. He had to work to accomplish what he sought. And that was much more satisfying than ever marrying the Sultan's daughter and living happily ever after.

THE WOODS

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE PASSENGER PIGEONS.

WHERE roam ye now, ye nomads of the air?

The old-time heralds of our old-time Springs?

Once, when we heard the thunder of your wings,

We looked upon the world—and Spring was there.

One time your armies swept across the sky,

Your feathered millions in a mighty march

Filling with life and music all the arch

Where now a lonely swallow flutters by.

Where roam ye now, ye nomads of the air?

In what far land? What undiscovered place?

Ye may have found the refuge of the race

That mortals visit but in dream and prayer.

Perhaps in some blest land ye wing your flight,

Now undisturbed by murder and by greed,

And there await the coming of the freed

Who shall emerge, like ye, from earth and night.

ALL A "SIMPLE MAN" KNEW

But His Cheery Greeting Caused Many To Take More Hopeful View of Life.

Used to have a man down our way that some folks called "short" in his upper story. We never looked for him to say a sensible thing or do one. He couldn't if he tried with all his might. He was the neighborhood fool, says a writer in Farm Life.

But one thing that man did know, and that was that God never made a day that was not all right. Whether it rained or snowed or blew or shone, it was a fine day with him. Meet him anywhere and you would never catch him without a smile on his face and a cheery, "Nice day!" on his lips.

And this man who was short in the upper story did more to make folks feel good inside of them and inspire them to look on the bright side of life than any other farmer in the neighborhood. We all went on after we had met him in the road with a warmer feeling in our hearts, thinking: "Now, maybe it really is a better day than I had thought it was."

No man could have spoken a greater truth than our good old friend of the cheery smile and the optimistic thought. Edward Everett, the great orator, went far across the country once to speak at the dedication of a great public institution. It was a stormy day and people did not look very happy as they stood around under their dripping umbrellas. Watching the expression on their faces, Mr. Everett said with a big smile all over his face: "This is a fine day. God made it, and He never made a day that was not just the best He could make it."

Sometimes it seems to us that things in this world of ours are pretty badly mixed up these days. It is quite fashionable to say: "We never saw anything like this." Things might be a great deal worse with us than they are. And everything is coming out all right, but you and I must bring them out right, or they never will be right.

All our friend knew was that all the days are simply fine. He could not have known a greater thing.

Singing Frogs.

Frozen frogs are poultry. Ergo, live frogs must be birds.

Such is the reasoning of the United States customs service.

Lem Louie Wing, cook on the Persia Maru, brought a pair of singing frogs all the way from China as pets for his little niece up in Chinatown.

Being honest, Lem Louie visited the customs house and declared his intention of bringing into the United States two frogs.

Now, according to customs rules, everything entering the port must come under its proper classification.

The tones of the office were searched and no classification of frogs was found.

It looked like Lem Louie's little niece would have to get along without her pets.

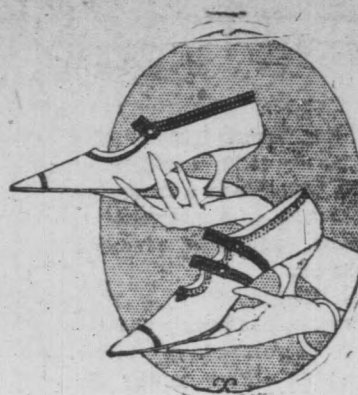

Then Deputy Surveyor Cook had a bright idea. Reference to the appraisal lists under the heading of "poultry" showed that frozen frogs may enter as "poultry."

Such being the case, Collector Irby was called upon to rule whether live frogs might not enter as "birds."

"The reasoning is clear," he ruled.

"If the general appraisal board can classify them as poultry when dead, frogs must have a legitimate claim to being birds when they are alive."

"That's light," chimed in Lem Louie. "These frogs sling alle timee."—San Francisco Chronicle.

HOME GUARDS WILL FIGHT POLES

By FRANK E. MASON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
BERLIN, May 18.—About 11,000 Prussian officers, veterans of the world war, will leave for the upper Silesian frontier tonight to form a "shock section" of home guards to fight the Poles.

The ex-officers will travel in mufti and will concentrate along the Berlin-Oppeln railroad, probably near Kreuzberg.

"We are acting individually," said one of the leaders. "The government is not responsible. So far as we know, Wilhelmstrasse does not know what we are doing. We are acting in the capacity of private citizens. We see work to be done and we are going to do it because we think we ought to."

ICE WILL KEEP LIFE IN BODY, SAYS DAUVILLE

(By International News Service)
PARIS, May 18.—Dr. Voronoff, of monkey gland fame, will have to find something new if he wants to put one over on Professor Gaston Dauville, a well-known French biologist, who also has found a way of prolonging life, but without operating on patients.

Whereas Dr. Voronoff claims he can rejuvenate old men, Professor Dauville claims he can prevent persons, of both sexes, from becoming old. He merely advises everybody to allow themselves to be packed in ice for a given period and says that this process tends to prevent the tissues of the body from degenerating and states that as long as the tissues remain vigorous life is possible.

AMERICANISM

What is Americanism? According to our view it is this: An undivided and consecrated heart as to the laws, the traditions, the ideals of the people, and the sovereignty of the constitution of the United States. But it must be free from "jingoism," from the desire for selfish isolation, and it must want to see permanent peace established among all the nations of the earth. We will be free and we will not usurp in any way the freedom of other countries. We will live and not only let live, but help live. If we get true Americanism we must speak for it and stand for it. It has become necessary in New York City to hold mass meetings to protest against being hyphenated. We want no hyphenate-Germans, no hyphenate-Irish. The American Legion is promoting meetings to determine that this country shall be of "one tongue, one people, one flag." But there is another element in 100 per cent Americanism which must not be overlooked. That element is the sincere desire to see the country afford ample opportunity for all. We must stop enacting special laws by which one set of workers can gain advantage over others. He who tries to exploit his country is its enemy. Patriotism that wears the dollar mark is not true Americanism. It is as dangerous or possibly more so, than the "hyphenated" kind. It carries the seeds of anarchy, revolution, Bolshevism, and all other enemies of civilization because it is non-social and anti-social, and always at its heart corruption, ferment and poison. Real Americanism denotes the heroic, the untainted, and undishonored character, the knightliness of high conduct, and the self-discipline of plain living and high thinking.

UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

The January, 1921, report of the nation-wide survey of unemployment made by the United States Employment Service showed that there were 3,473,446 fewer workers employed in industry during the first month of this year than during January, 1920. Statistics for February, 1921, indicate that in spite of local fluctuations there was a decrease in employment—16,295 fewer workers were employed on the last day of February than on the last day of January, 1921. Thirty-six cities reported decreases aggregating 60,235, while 29 cities reported increases aggregating 43,904. In Youngstown, Ohio, there was a decrease in employment of 8105; in Indianapolis, 3706; in Philadelphia, 4360; in Chicago, 5132. On the other hand in Detroit there was a significant increase in employment of 20,417, and in New York an increase of 3090.

Let us hope that the last item is the sign of a change for the better.

TROUBLES OF THE BOY

The door closed behind an irate neighbor who had come to complain regarding certain of Tommy's shortcomings. A few moments later, as he was tearfully preparing for a prematurely early bedtime, he said to his mother: "I wish we lived in heaven, mother."

His mother demanded to know the cause of his sudden aspiration toward better things.

"Oh, well," he sighed, "you know the angels would not be half so hard to please as the neighbors are."—Exchange.

Among other complications, the new administration inherits a mandatory over 40,000,000 gallons of bonded whisky. Like most troubles, however, that liquor will all disappear by evaporation in the course of time if it's let alone.

When Bainbridge Colby referred to Col. Harvey the other evening as "an accomplished and refined gentleman" he no doubt forgot that he was no longer a secretary of state and a diplomat, but just a private citizen.

GRAVE AND GAY

Married women may regard a bachelor as a fool, but married men don't.

Sociologists spend a good deal of time discussing delinquent children that should be sent upon delinquent parents.

A man who is forced to admit that he does not "belong" to a church, always hastily adds, "but my wife does."

It's a dead worm that has no turning.

A man may never have been made a fool of by any woman, but somewhere there is always a woman who could do it.

"A friend in need" is one you may need.

It's well enough to "rally" round the flag, but somebody has to carry forward the flag.

There is a good deal of criticism of a giggling girl, but were you ever around a sniveling one?

One reason you can't get ahead may be because in every procession toward success you are lagging behind.

A square-jawed man usually has his own way, but a square-jawed woman not only has hers but everybody else's.

Times change. George Washington crossed the Delaware and was mentioned in all school histories. Many people now cross the Atlantic and don't even get their names in the home papers.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

Mary Miles Minter, who is contemplating a pleasure trip to Europe, is now appearing in "Her Winning Way," which will go to the screen as a Reelart picture.

Walter Hiers has the role of a real, romantic leading man in "The Clinging Vine," by Elmer Harris, and starring Wanda Hawley. He wins the girl in the end.

Charles Meredith, a popular screen leading man, has been added to the all-star cast of Thomas H. Ince's latest drama for Associated Producers, "Hall the Woman."

May McAvoy, Kathryn Williams and Edward Sutherland are in the Reelart company producing Hector Turnbull's story for the screen, "Everything for Sale." Several beach scenes will be taken at Del Monte.

May Collins is supporting Frank Mayo in the Universal production of "The Sharkmaster." Her role is that of a white girl who has been washed ashore on a South Sea island and adopted by the natives.

Ethel Gray Terry has been engaged to play the leading feminine role in an all-star cast in the two-reel photoplay, "The Northern Trail," adapted from James Oliver Curwood's story, "The Wilderness Mail."

Charlie Chaplin is 32 years old. Blanche Sweet is in a rest sanitarium recovering from a nervous breakdown.

Billy Rhodes still is in retirement from the screen.

Jack Pickford is planning to return to the screen as a star.

Bryant Washburn is resuscitating in his Los Angeles home.

Pitts, having lots of idle time on her hands, enjoys riding about Southern California in a limousine.

Sam Semon is a native of West Point, Miss., and was educated in Savannah, Ga.

Charles Maigne, famous Players-Lasky director, has been a newspaperman, a war correspondent, a magazine writer and an officer in the United States army.

Gladys Brockwell, former Fox star in Westerns, is staging a comeback, after an absence of many months from the screen. She has just signed to play a star part in a Sellers-Sparling picture which will be produced at the Louis B. Mayer studio.

Jan, Kubelik, the famous musician was a recent visitor to the West Coast Studio of Universal. It was his first peek into a studio and a bit bewildered, he watched Frank Mayo at work and later got a real thrill out of a serial cave set in which a prop skeleton was hanging. This skeleton vibrates continually with the slight breeze from a high-up window.

Kubelik came suddenly into the dark of the cave, and a light being flashed on the shimmying skeleton, his artistically long hair fairly stood on end, but he took it as a good joke, saying he was going to see the serial when it came out.

Jason Robards, now playing opposite Alice Brady in a new Reelart picture, "The Land of Hope," is said to be about to desert the stage for the screen.

Mr. Robard gained fame on Broadway, New York city, as the juvenile lead in "Lightnin'" with Frank Bacon.

CHAPTER A.H. MEETS WITH MRS. WEBSTER

Chapter A. H. of the P. E. O. met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Abbie Webster at 624 South Central avenue, Mrs. Amelia Wattles and Mrs. Dwight Stephenson being assisting hostesses.

Luncheon was served at one large table and four small ones all decorated with fine roses.

Following the luncheon Miss Lucile Tholen made a most interesting talk on the making of phonograph records, illustrating her points with the actual records. A business session followed over which Mrs. Van Ethen presided and at which Miss Lillian Webster was initiated into membership. Mrs. Gladys Porter and Miss Cox of chapter C. J. were guests.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nora Tuttle.

TWO CARLOADS OF FORD AUTOMOBILES

Mr. Lawrence of the Ford Agency reports the arrival from the east of two carloads of autos each containing twelve cars. One of these carloads goes to a single concern in Los Angeles. Of the other twelve, six have already been sold leaving but six cars on which they can make immediate delivery.

"We are very fortunate," said Mr. Lawrence, "to get this shipment because they are slowing up considerably and after these are gone we may have to wait for some time. The slowing up of western shipments is due to the opening up of business in the east and the Ford factory naturally supplies that market first."

MRS. WM. SMITH SILVER TEA HOSTESS

Guests to the number of 75 or more enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. William Smith, yesterday afternoon, when she entertained ladies of the Church of the Holy Family and their friends with a silver tea at her home, 328 West Lomita avenue.

A charming feature of the afternoon was contributed by gifted little Margot Buxton, whose two solo dances, Pierot and a Chinese dance, elicited such enthusiastic applause that she was forced to give several encores. Appropriate costuming added to the beauty of her numbers, her richly embroidered Chinese costume being especially admired.

Mrs. Smith's home was artistically decorated in Scotch broom, she and her assistant hostesses served refreshments of punch and cake, and the silver offering amounted to $43.

entire assemblage rose to its feet and indulged in applause which lasted for about six minutes before it was stifled.

Mr. Jones' speech had as its keynote the three duties of Masons and Masonry--duty to God, duty to country and duty to humanity. He was interrupted many times by applause which was quieted with difficulty.

Upon the completion of the program Mr. Jones expressed the desire to grasp the hand of each man present and also stated that during the coming year as head of the grand chapter, Royal Arch Masons of the state of California, it is his desire to visit each and every chapter and if possible, to clasp the hand of each one of the 17,000 Royal Arch Masons in the state.

Deputy Grand Master Burke, in the course of his address, stated that during his entire course in Masonry, which covers a rather lengthy period of years, he has never witnessed such a unique occasion as this, which he believed would go down in Masonic history as the greatest honor which one branch of Masonry has ever conferred on the head of another branch.

Local Masons declare that this honor to Mr. Jones, while a personal tribute, is also a great honor to Glendale Masonic bodies. He is the past high priest of Unity Chapter here and all of his companions in that chapter were present as guests of the Golden West Commandery.

It is also stated that there is a concerted movement among the Masons of California to place before the general grand chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the United States the name of Mr. Jones for an office in that general grand body, inasmuch as the west has never before been represented in that chapter.

G. U. H. S. DEFEATS CITRUS UNION HIGH

The baseball game which the team of Glendale high played Tuesday afternoon with Citrus Union high at Azusa resulted in a score of 13 to 5 in favor of Glendale, which was most cheering. The local team still has a chance to win the league pennant and has a game with Covina high here Friday afternoon.

GOOD MEETING OF LITERARY SECTION

As usual the meeting of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club which took place Tuesday afternoon at the home of the curator, Mrs. A. M. Williams of South Orange street, was of great interest.

Mrs. Edwin Cleophas had a very fine paper on Scotland in which she reviewed its geographical situation, its history from early times, and its relation to England in a manner which showed great research.

Mrs. C. E. Brandstater outlined current events and Mrs. J. C. Dunn gave a survey of current magazines and their chief topics.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward then gave an excellent review of the series of articles by H. G. Wells on the "Salvaging of Civilization." She described his plan of making a new book for the guidance of all peoples all over the world and the setting of a standard of living. The theme was beautifully handled and of great interest to all present.

The section decided to make its last day of the club year, which will be June 7, and take place at the home of Mrs. Williams, a social afternoon, pure and simple. At that time Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of the hostess will read "The Tyranny of Tears," by Chambers.

The section also elected as its curator for the coming year, Mrs. C. E. Stanley.

The long lost "log" of the Mayflower was returned to Massachusetts by the consistory court of the Diocese of London in 1897.

FIRST UNIT OF HOOPER BUILDING

The building which William H. Hooper has been erecting on Louise street just south of Broadway is about ready for occupation as it has gone forward rapidly. It is to be used as a tire and vulcanizing shop and battery station. It is stated that as soon as work ceases on that structure a more imposing building to serve as store and show room and also as an oil station to replace the one at present on the corner, will be started by Mr. Hooper.

John Thomas Wyvell Dead

The many friends of John Thomas Wyvell will be grieved to learn that he passed away at his home at La Crecenta May 16. As a grocery merchant on North Brand boulevard he came in contact with many citizens in that part of the community and had a wide circle of acquaintances, by whom he will be missed. He was born in England, June 4, 1860, and had been a resident of California for 15 years. He leaves a widow and several brothers. Funeral services, which will be in charge of the L. G. Scovern company, await instructions from relatives in the east.

Guerilla Warfare in Ireland

LONDON, May 18.—With approximately 40 dead in the unprecedented outburst of guerilla warfare in western and southern Ireland, the British war office was reported today to be rushing heavy reinforcements of troops and artillery to combat the Irish republican army.

SCHOOL DAYS

GOOD LUCK CLOVER

ONE cool morning in spring—I know it was in May—when all the flowers were coming out in their bright summer dresses, a strange little clover appeared in the velvety clover patch. Now this particular clover patch had been rather quarrelsome each spring, and each seemed afraid his neighbor would attract more attention than himself. On that very morning there had been the greatest dispute as to the prettiest clover in the patch. Pink clover had turned up her pretty little ver," she promised. "Watch patiently and he will come."

When Daddy heard the pews of a stranger among them, he hastened down to greet him. At the first glance the newcomer seemed so tiny and odd-looking that Daddy was rather disappointed. Strangest of all, he had four leaves instead of three. But when he saw what a smile Four-leaf had, he liked him very much and gave him a cordial welcome.

Not so with the clover children. They whispered and laughed among themselves at the queer dress. Of course this made Four-leaf very uncomfortable, and he pretended not to hear. Pretty soon, however, when they saw how glad he was to help them look their best and never tried to be admired himself, they became more friendly. Four-leaf was just bubbling over with jolly tales and soon had them waving over in laughter.

Then the honey bees who liked, a good time came over to share in the fun, and the patch grew livelier every day.

When Four-leaf saw how much they had changed for the better, he knew his work in the patch was over and called all the Clover Children to him. "I must leave you all soon," he said, "and before I go I will tell you a secret. As long as you love one another you will be beautiful. Anyone who is cross and bad tempered will soon grow ugly."

"We will remember, Four-leaf," they promised him, and waved their pretty heads in farewell as a little girl with a cry of delight stooped and picked him up.

gan and C. H. Crawford are the committee that has been gathering together mysterious packages which may be fished out for a small monetary consideration.

A "May program on the lawn has also been arranged by the Central avenue ladies.

Punch and a pet show were the seemingly incongruous departments assigned the Pacific avenue ladies as their share in the work, but they appointed a committee large enough and capable enough to handle it successfully, as this list of its members will show: Mmes. Phillips, Waller, Tronsier, Moore, Tuttle, Rosenberg, Grover Adams, W. Jones, Hanning and Ross Russell.

The Broadway school P. T. A. has charge of the cake contest; the recipe for the cake was given in the columns of the Daily Press several days ago.

The same ladies also have charge of the children's parade, which will include children from the first four grades. They will parade from the corner of Maryland and Wilson avenues to the grounds. Members of this committee are Mmes. M. A. Horner, Kuehny, Aichholz, Johanssen, Wilkinson, Van Wie, Philip, Jepson and Leitch.

There will be an indoor program under the direction of Mrs. H. V. Henry in the evening, to which an admission will be charged. A charge will also be made for admission to the side shows. These are the only features to which admission will be charged.

It would be an easy matter to settle the railroad controversy except for the public's unorthodox refusal to be the goat.

An American named Otis, invented the steam shovel in 1840, but it did not come into general use until 1865.

Evidently, Not by the Senses.

An American was with a gushing enthusiasm describing his new car to an English visitor. "It runs so smoothly," he said, "you can't feel it. Not a bit of noise, you can't hear it. Perfect ignition, you can't smell it. And speed, why, it simply whizzes, you can't see it."

"My word!" exclaimed the astonished Britisher. "How do you know the bally thing is there?"—Boston Transcript.

Telephone Nightmares.

Church—I understand an arrangement has been patented so that when a person is talking on the telephone the face of the person one is talking to is reflected on a mirror in front of them, even if the person being talked to is miles away.

Gotham—Well, I hope to gracious if that is so some people I happen to know will never telephone me.

Excessive Success.

"It isn't possible for success to escape the snare of envy," "No," replied Cactus Joe. "Success should be taken in moderation. The first time in an event that a man holds four aces everybody congratulates him, the second time everybody gets suspicious, and the third time everybody guesses it's about time to stop the game."

Strong-Arm Methods.

"Politics is a game of give and take," remarked Mr. Wapples. "I'll subscribe to the first part of your statement," said Mr. Grabco, who had just had an experience with an alert "money digger." "I don't particularly object to giving, but I do object to the kind of back talk I have to take for not giving more."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Her Exact Words.

Bill—So you asked the sweet little thing to marry you?
Gill—Yes, I did.
"And she said 'yes,' I suppose?"
"No, she didn't."
"Oh, she said 'no,' did she?"
"Not exactly."
"Well, what did she say, then?"
"She said: 'Nothin' doin'.'"

WHAT OFFICERS ARE FOR

"So you've elected a new set of officers."
"Yes. Now all we've got to do is to sit back and kick about the way they do things."

Cheerful.

It may be that I shall not do
A single thing worth while,
But while my skies above are blue
I'll try to show a smile.

Way to Lose Friends.

Bacon—You're looking down in the mouth, old man.

Egbert—Well, I'll say I feel pretty blue.

"You look as if you had lost all your friends."

"Well, to tell you the truth, I've borrowed money from everybody I know."

Best He Could Do.

"Good heaven, Dick! Tan shoes with evening dress—that's awfully bad form!"

"I know it, but stocking feet with evening dress is worse."—Boston Transcript.

A Matter of Taste.

The Equestrienne—Oh, I'm so furious with myself!

"Why?"

"For liking so much the kiss Jack Thrasher made me take in the park this morning."—Judge.

Audience Needed.

Wife—I've invited a company of the most brilliant people for our dinner, dear.

Hub—Not all brilliant, I hope. We ought to have some dull ones to listen."

Isn't One of 'Em Rich?

"Never married, eh? Well, my boy, some day the girl will come along whom you can love."

"That isn't the trouble. I know four or five now."—Boston Transcript.

Too True.

"Should a girl marry for love or money?"

"Well, it's a question. You get fooled on both propositions."

Presents From Editors.

"It is my one regret that I didn't become a poet."

"Had you done so, my boy, you would have regrets by the hundred."

PERSONAL MENTION

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Latter whose marriage was celebrated in this city not long ago, will be interested to know that they have at last been able to satisfy themselves in an apartment home and are now located at 3055 Richmond boulevard, Oakland. They had hoped to find something to their liking in Berkeley but were disappointed. Mrs. Latter has been entertained so much at luncheons and other affairs by old friends and new, that she has had no chance to get homesick for her friends in Southern California.

Mrs. Scott of Savitelle was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. V. G. Godfrey, of 131 North Adams street, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Olin of 400 North Isabel street, and children, were dinner guests recently of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Percival of Pasadena, parents of Mrs. Olin.

Miss Sue Thomas of 304 North Kenwood street, has departed for her home in Pennsylvania. She plans to spend a week at Yosemite enroute.

Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. F. Freeman of Long Beach, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bentley, 400 South Adams street.

Mrs. Glen Widmark of 1006 East Lomita avenue, was a week-end visitor at Santa Ana.

Dr. Furst of Los Angeles, who has been quite ill the past week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Lyons, 511 North Jackson street, is now improving nicely.

L. J. Massie, who recently moved here from Long Beach, is now a reader of the Glendale Daily Press. He has leased the property at 1315 North Louise street for six months and expects to build later on Kenneth road. Mr. Massie is a prominent member of the Christian church and established the Massie Old People's Home on Signal Hill, Long Beach. He says that before he left Texas he helped to build a Christian church. He did his share in the building of the half-million dollar structure at Long Beach, and now expects to have a part in the new Central Christian church building at Louise and Colorado streets.

Miss Lydia Carson of South Central avenue, was a week-end guest of friends in Long Beach.

Mrs. Margaret Fischer of 915 South Brand boulevard, accompanied by her niece, Miss Goebelman, left on Friday for Laramie, Wyo., to join a party of ten who will sail May 30 for an extended trip through Europe, where Mrs. Fischer will visit relatives.

Mrs. Alex McVickers, who was 73 years "young" yesterday, was the honoree at a luncheon at the home of her daughter in Highland Park.

Mrs. R. W. Meeker of 1320 East Colorado boulevard, has been on the sick list the past few days, due to overwork in the interest of the Monte Vista home for undernourished children.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gilliland of 500 Patterson avenue were week-end visitors at Catalina.

GREAT SUFFERING IN WELSH COAL FIELDS

CARDIFF, Wales, May 18.—Tragic suffering, that has outgrown the remedies of relief agencies, grips the whole Welsh coal field today as a result of the national miners strike, which is now in its forty-eighth day.

Thousands of school children are being fed daily at soup kitchens. In this city it is estimated that one man in every twenty is idle. The distress fund of the lord mayor of Cardiff has been exhausted and appeals are being sent to other parts of the United Kingdom for aid.

The wives of the idle miners are selling and pawning their household effects to buy food. Many have pawned or sold their wedding rings. The pawnbrokers in Splott have refused to accept any more furniture or bed clothing for loans.

Cases of death from starvation are becoming more and more numerous.

Cemetery Question Warmly Debated Last Evening

necessary to preserve the public health and insure the growth and progress of the city. I feel assured from my brief reading that the opinion given the trustees is erroneous."

Hal Davenport indicated that he would like to have some expression from a representative of the Forest Lawn Company if one were present and Mr. Bashford, arose and addressed the meeting explaining that his company had spent huge sums in the improvement of the grounds to make them beautiful and park-like, that it was the intent of the company to make this the most beautiful cemetery in the world and make Glendale celebrated in that connection; also that it had planned to expend about $25,000 in the building of a road to the hill-top that it might be used for Easter morning services that would bring thousands of worshippers to Glendale and because of this plan an approach over the land purchased on Glendale avenue was necessary. He declared the cemetery was one of the greatest single enterprises in the city with a payroll of $33,000 and a bank account for local expenditures running into many thousands of dollars all spent here.

His speech did not apparently change the sentiment of the meeting, however, and some bitter things were said by opponents of the extension, which finally led to another rather heated speech by Mr. Bashford, in which he announced that they need not concern themselves further as a meeting of the officers of the company had been held that noon in which they decided that extension at this time was premature and they would withdraw the petition to the city trustees.

On motion of Mr. Davenport the meeting gave a vote of thanks to Mr. Bashford, but the committee previously appointed to confer with Mr. Levey on action to be taken was retained and met immediately after the larger meeting adjourned, that committee consisting of Mr. Bradshaw, Mr. Rosenberger, Mr. Peterman, Mr. McDonald, Mr. Davenport and Mmes. Fairchild, Whitney, Rich and Blair. Among those who took part in the discussions besides those mentioned were: D. Ripley Jackson, Mr. Donnelly, Clyde Seal, Mrs. Blair, Mr. Peterman and Mr. Rosenberger.

satin slippers, would be entirely unpractical clothing, as indicated in the lists of garments given above.

Cast gifts may be sent to Near East Relief headquarters, 517 Wright and Callender building, Los Angeles.

The steamship Esther Dollar will sail soon with these and other Pacific coast donations to bring succor to these starving and shivering people.

Besides the school children, any laundry driver or Boy Scout, will take your bundle to the receiving station for you.

What Will Labor Do?

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 18.—"What will labor do?" was the question that became uppermost today as the result of the announcement of the United States railroad board that wages of railway employees will be revised downward, effective July 1. Upon the attitude taken by the labor organization, observers declared, hinges the question of peace in the railway industry.

No inkling of their attitude or intentions was forthcoming today from leaders of the railway workers here.

"BUNDLE DAY" FOR RELIEF OF THE NEAR EAST

Wednesday, May 25, Has Been Set Aside for Collection of Clothing

SUFFERING OF CHILDREN

Articles That Are Warm and Serviceable Are Needed, for Armenians

Wednesday, May 25, is "Bundle Day" all over Southern California in a campaign for Near East Relief. The fire stations in Glendale are receiving stations for bundles; every school child is interested and any child will take your bundle gladly if you cannot do so yourself.

Substantial clothing is needed, coats, dresses, suits of all sizes, boots and shoes, and they should be tied in pairs; woolen gloves, woolen shirts, shawmrow goods, new garments and cloth to make garments, also sheets to make bandages. Style does not count among the shivering, rundown starving people, among whom even rags are at a premium.

The things to ask yourself in selecting articles for your bundle are: Is it serviceable? Is there wear left in it? Will it keep someone warm? Silks, chiffons, veils, slippers, laces, muslin underwear, straw or frame hats, silk stockings and evening clothes cannot be used.

Every man, woman and child in America is asked to help. A single coat may save a human life; a day's delay in sending the coat may cost a life. Don't wait till May 25, is the plea of those in charge, for it takes time to sort the clothes and get them ready for shipment.

Many thousands of Armenians, driven from their homes during the war are still in exile. There has been no way to secure clothing to replace what they wore when they were driven forth.

All industry is paralyzed. The people, though willing, cannot earn a livelihood. Vast throngs wander from place to place, clad only in bits of rags and strips of burlap bags.

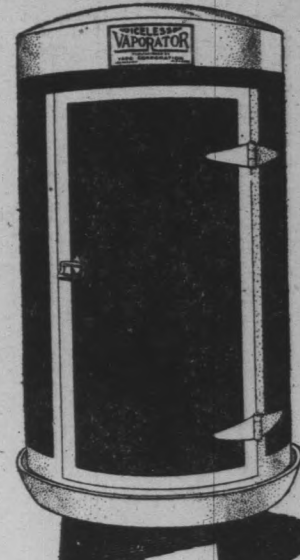

The little children are perhaps the worst sufferers. A report from a near east relief worker, Miss Martha P. Jacobsen, is typical of scores of others. She writes:

"Hundreds of little children in our orphanage at Harpoot dragged themselves to us, suffering acute rheumatism and pneumonia as a result of lack of clothes. Some were affected by gangrene, from frozen feet."

To relieve—in part, at least—this distress, near east relief, which, under a congressional charter, operates in this field, has undertaken to collect quantities of cast-off or other spare clothing.

Almost anything of a serviceable character will do. Of course, fancy garments, such as evening gowns and

Refrigeration Without Ice

WHAT IS IT?

—An Iceless Vaporator is a refrigerator in which refrigeration is obtained by the old principle of water evaporation.
—The water from the reservoir at the top permeates the outer wall, keeping it thoroughly saturated. The material, Vapo, acts as a sponge, absorbing its capacity of water at all times, but no more until evaporation takes place. Evaporation of the water from the outer wall cools the inner wall and the food compartment. The inside of the Iceless Vaporator is a conductor of cold, while the outside is a non-conductor of heat.
—Keep in it milk, butter, meats, fruits, cantaloupes, vegetables, including onions, and you will find them always fresh and cool, with no taste one of the other. It is the cool, dry air.

Girls of Redondo High Entertain With Fine All-Day Interesting Program

Miss Dorothy Peart and Miss Myra Johns represented the Girls' League of Glendale high at a meeting of delegates from all the Girls' Leagues of Southern California at Redondo, Saturday, when girls of Redondo high acted as hostesses and performed their duties in a highly creditable manner.

From 11 to 12 o'clock the girls had the exclusive use of the Redondo plunge. They were then taken to the high school for luncheon at which there were some short talks. They then adjourned to the auditorium where a program of pipe organ numbers was given by students of the school which was much enjoyed.

The afternoon's program included two outstanding addresses, one by Mrs. George U. Moyses of this city, on "Vocations for Girls," the other by Miss Humphreys of Manual Arts high on "Vocations for Girls."

Following this program the delegates were taken on an auto ride along the coast. About 500 girls were present at the convention.
